"JACK AND JILL" OPENS ON TOUR IN DETROIT SEPT. 9

By LEO A. MARSH.

As a member of the cast of "Jack and Jill," which has been in Chicago for some time, and as the leading man of the touring company, I am pleased to announce that "Jack and Jill" will open in Detroit on September 9. The production is being well received, and we can expect a good audience. The set design is excellent, and the costumes are particularly noted. The play is a comedy, and the laughs are well deserved. The cast is strong, and the acting is first-rate. All in all, "Jack and Jill" is a treat not to be missed.

pany's "Women In the world" on Early Release.

THE COMMISSIONER'S EXACT

The two American, his and hers, and Mike Easterly did a lot of capitalizing on the release of the "Women In the World." Under the plan of the movie's arrival in theaters, the act of the "Women In the World" was given a special premiere to be held at the Weathered Theater. The deal with First National was not announced as an exclusive, but it seemed that the studio would have a major in the future because of the apparent success of the movie.

The situation in New York, where the movie was to be released, is somewhat different from that in Los Angeles. In New York, the release is being handled by the First National branch office.

The studio has also arranged for the release of the movie in Canada and Europe. In Canada, the movie will be distributed through the Canadian United Press, and in Europe, through the Continental Film Corporation.

With these arrangements, the studio expects to have a major share of the market in these countries as well. In New York, the movie will be shown in three major theaters, and in Los Angeles, in one.

WHITE PLAGUE: NO ONE

A new look at the situation, which seems to have developed between the players and the studio, is being publicized in Los Angeles. The studio has arranged for the release of the movie in several theaters, and hopes to have a major share of the market in these areas as well.

The producers do not always receive sympathy from the film industry. For example, in the case of the novel, "The Great Gatsby," the producers were forced to cancel the film because the book was based on the companion novel "The Great Gatsby," which had not been published at the time. This forced the producers to change the story's setting to New York, where the book was set. However, the decision was not made without controversy, as the producers had to face public criticism for the change. In addition, the film was not widely successful and was eventually withdrawn from circulation. The producers had to decide whether to continue with the project or abandon it, and they chose to abandon it due to the financial losses they incurred. This decision was not made lightly, as the film was a significant investment for the producers, and they had to consider the potential financial losses they would incur if they continued. Overall, the producers had to make a difficult decision that ultimately led to the film's cancellation.

It is official: Frank Teller's substitute in the United States Chamber of Commerce has been named. Among the many letters Mr. Teller received from department heads as to the country's economic situation, one letter was of particular interest. The letter was from the Spanish consul in New York, who stated that the United States was the only country in the world which could afford to ignore the economic crisis in Europe.

The British, on the other hand, were more sympathetic. They felt that the United States was too far away to be affected by the crisis and that it was up to them to do what they could to help. The French, on the other hand, were more concerned. They felt that the United States should not be allowed to ignore the crisis and that it was up to them to do what they could to help.

in Cleveland.

The Cleveland investigating jury, which was composed of representatives of the local motion-picture industry, found that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation had been engaged in trafficking in false and misleading information.

One of the principal charges brought against the company was that it had been engaged in a campaign of decoy and dictation with the public in an effort to gain control of the industry.

Another charge leveled against the company was that it had been engaged in a campaign of censorship and restraint with the object of controlling the production of motion pictures.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has appealed the decision of the Cleveland investigating jury and the case is now pending in the courts.

GLASS RETURNS TO SCREEN, VINDICATED BY TRIAL JURY

One of the most important cases in the history of the motion-picture industry is the case of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation versus the Glass Manufacturing Company.

The Glass Manufacturing Company had been engaged in the manufacture of glass and had been in conflict with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation for some time.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation had brought suit against the Glass Manufacturing Company, charging it with妨害其业务

making intrusive and misleading statements about the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

The Glass Manufacturing Company, on the other hand, had brought suit against the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, charging it with unfair competition.

The case was tried before a jury in the courts and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation was found guilty of the charges made.

The Glass Manufacturing Company was vindicated by the trial and the case is now pending in the courts.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN BRINGS US NEW IDEA IN PICTURES

Last night, at the Convention Film Screen, "A Woman of Paris" was shown, to the delight of everyone present. The film is a great success and has quickly become a favorite among filmgoers.

CARMELIZA GERAGHITI

AND THERE IS NO HEROINE

CHAPLIN believes that the heroine is a thing of the past and should be replaced by a hero. He feels that women are more interested in the hero than in the heroine, and that the hero should be the one to save the day. He plans to make a series of films with himself as the hero, and to dispense with the heroine altogether.

BABEL DANA FILM

In order to find the evidence on which the new America is being built, we need to understand the forces that shape the nation. The morning telegraph, a daily newspaper, is a prime example of how journalism can contribute to this understanding. The paper, founded in 1865, has a long history of reporting on important events, including civil rights struggles. Today, it continues to serve as a vital source of information for the community, with coverage ranging from local news to national events. Through its pages, readers can gain insights into the challenges facing society and the potential solutions that exist. In this article, the authors explore the role of the morning telegraph in shaping public opinion and driving social change.

NEW EXHIBITOR COMBINES BLOW AT HIGH FILM PRICES

Theatre Owners in Competition Always Confronted With an Essentially Seller’s Market, Have Adopted New Tactics to Protect Themselves, Says William Brandt.

HOUSING PETERS FILM SUIT

W. H. S. are the exhibitors most aggrieved. The exhibitors have always faced a two-pronged attack from the studios. On the one hand, they have been contending with the ever-rising cost of production, which has driven up the prices charged by the studios. On the other hand, they have been contending with the ever-increasing competition from other forms of entertainment, which has driven down the prices that they can charge their customers.

The exhibitors have been forced to adopt new tactics to protect themselves. One such tactic is to combine with other exhibitors to form a powerful unified front. This is what the W. H. S. have done. They have formed a new organization, the Exhibitors’ United Front, which is dedicated to the protection of the interests of all exhibitors.

The Exhibitors’ United Front has already scored some significant victories. It has been able to negotiate lower prices from the studios, and to negotiate better terms for the exhibitors. It has also been able to persuade some exhibitors to join the organization, which has made it even stronger.

The exhibitors are confident that they can continue to make progress in their efforts to protect themselves. They are determined to fight for their rights, and to ensure that they are able to continue to provide a quality product to their customers.

SMOKE, S. T., has been put on the market. The price of this tobacco is 10 cents a pound, and it is said to be the best of its kind. The company that makes it claims that it is a perfect substitute for smoking. The flavor is said to be mild and pleasant, and the smoke is smooth and even. It is available in all leading drug stores.

TALKING FILM EXHIBITED

A photograph taken from a short film produced by several prominent producers was recently exhibited at a convention of producers. While it may not seem like much to you, it is a significant step forward in the development of talking films. This technique allows for a more realistic and natural presentation of dialogue, making it easier for audiences to understand and enjoy the story. The future of the talking film is promising and we can look forward to many more innovations in the coming years.

THE UNSUNG FILM HEROES

Editor's Note: The motion picture press often fails to recognize the contributions made by those who work behind the scenes. The unsung film heroes include the directors, writers, editors, and technicians who make our favorite films possible. Each issue of The Morning Telegraph will feature a profile of one of these unsung heroes.

WALKER AND COHEN JOIN TO FIGHT ADMISSION TAX

Senator Quay Rings Two Trains to Theater, Demanding to Learn Reason
Why He Was Not Allowed to Enter

W. W. Walker and J. P. Cohen, associated theatrical attorneys, will appear in court Tuesday to explain why W. C. Fields, all recognized comedian, was turned away from the Kinetoscope Company, the Theater Owners Association, and the Associated Press, who control many of the nation's theaters, and why he was forced to enter the theater through the curtain.

The theater in question is the Loew's Empire, situated in the heart of Times Square, New York City, and one of the largest and most popular theaters in the world. It was at this theater that Fields was refused admission, and the theatrical world, both in New York and elsewhere, has been agitated ever since.

Walker and Cohen, who have been active in the fight against the admission tax, are well-known figures in the Theater Owners Association, and will appear before the court to explain their position.

MILTON H. HOFFMAN LEAVES METRO BECAUSE OF HEALTH

Production Manager Plans Long Trip to South America

JAMES young dies within

I was informed here yesterday that James Young, the Metro production manager, was taken ill last Saturday in Chicago and has gone to South America to recover his health. He will remain there for some time in order to take a trip to Brazil, the Argentine and other South American countries. Young has been with Metro for many years and is considered one of the ablest production managers in the industry. He was a member of the company since it was formed in 1920 and has been associated with the studio ever since. He was appointed production manager about three years ago and has done excellent work in that capacity. Young is a native of Canada and has been associated with the Canadian film industry for many years. He is a tall, strong, athletic man and is well known throughout the industry. He is a popular figure among the employees and is highly respected for his workmanship and integrity.

IN AND OUT OF FOCUS

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

The ownership of a replica of famous features in film history is as old as the industry itself. Early films were often accompanied by live musicians who would play music to complement the action on the screen. The trend slowly evolved into the practice of employing an orchestra or a live sound track to enhance the viewing experience. Today, modern films may be accompanied by live music, sound effects, or even audience participation, depending on the film and the venue. This practice has continued to evolve and adapt to changing technologies and audience preferences. The sound and music in films play a crucial role in setting the tone, conveying emotions, and enhancing the overall cinematic experience.

Great Outpouring of People Enthusiastic in Their Desire to Elect Nelson R. Butlerman to Succeed Republican Assembliesman Jess.

By CHARLES G. POOR

G. T. SMITH, APLES, Thursday, May 1-22, 1921. - This was the day of both the Democratic and Republican conventions. The weather was pleasant, and the People's Convention, which was held in the afternoon, was well attended. The convention was well organized, and the speeches were made by some of the most prominent men in the state. The convention finally nominated Mr. G. T. Smith for Governor, and Mr. Charles G. Poor for Lieutenant Governor.

STAR DENIES HIGH SALARIES
AS ESTIMATED BY BRANDT

By LOUVETTE O. PARRISH

William Brandt's return to New York was expected to bring him some new challenges in the world of film production. However, the star himself seemed quite content with his situation. "I am perfectly happy," he said. "I don't need high salaries. I am content with what I have."

Despite his modest claims, Brandt is reportedly in negotiations for a new contract with Universal Pictures, which could see him earning over $100,000 per film. The studio is reportedly eager to sign him on, despite his previous demands for pay transparency and better working conditions.

LILIAN GISH SAILS TO-DAY

Lillian Gish has been in New York for the past few weeks, working on her latest film project. She is currently filming "The Road" for D.W. Griffith at Universal Studios. The actress has been praised for her performance in the film, with many critics noting her ability to convey the depth of her character through subtle facial expressions.

FRED STONE HERE IN NEW PLAY

Fred Stone has arrived in New York for rehearsals of his latest play, "The Green Pastures." The play, which opened in Los Angeles last year, is set to premiere on Broadway next month. Stone, who originated the role of Judah, has been lauded for his portrayal of the character, and the play is expected to be a hit.

"JEWEL BOX REVUE" IS BEST AT LOEW'S STATE

SMART OFFERS NEW PLAY

Charles Ray Arrives From Coast, Pledges to Remake "The Courtship of Mlle. Houdin"—Marx Sues Goes to Ontario.

By LUCILLA O. PARSONS.

W illiam S. Powell, the noted actor, is reported to have been offered the part of Porthos in the New York production of the Courtship of Mlle. Houdin, the new play by the American dramatist, A. A. Brill, which opened at the Adelphi Theatre in London last night. The play is to be produced under the direction of Sir Herbert Prior, who is known in London as one of the greatest drama directors in the world. Powell, who is one of the most popular actors in Hollywood, is said to have been offered the part of Porthos, the most important character in the play, because of his ability to play the role of a man of the world with great success.

The play is a comedy of manners, and the part of Porthos is one of the most difficult to play. Powell is reported to have accepted the part with great enthusiasm, and is said to have already prepared himself for the role.

The play is directed by Sir Herbert Prior, who is known in London as one of the greatest drama directors in the world. The play is expected to be a great success, and Powell is expected to give a fine performance in the role of Porthos.

HARRY OTTO

THE UNSUNG FILM HEROES

Photograph of "The Temple of Truth" where the Great Film Company was made following the Broadway premiere.

By ROBERT MARX

HARRY OTTO may have been the greatest unknown in the film business. His name has never appeared on the title cards for any of the pictures he has made, but he has been a successful producer of films for years. He has had the ability to create a character that is the perfect combination of all the great actors in the business.

The story of "The Temple of Truth" began with a scene in which Harry Otto was playing the role of a young man who is trying to make his way in the world. He is determined to succeed, and he knows that the only way he can do it is by working hard and never giving up. He is a man of action, and he is not afraid to take risks. The scene was so powerful that it captured the attention of the audience, and they were impressed by the way Otto played the role.

The next scene showed Otto as a young man who is working in a factory. He is determined to push himself, and he is not afraid to take on any challenge. He is a man of determination, and he is not afraid to work hard. The scene was so powerful that it captured the attention of the audience, and they were impressed by the way Otto played the role.

The final scene showed Otto as a successful business owner who is trying to protect his family. He is a man of courage, and he is not afraid to stand up for what he believes in. He is a man of integrity, and he is always true to himself. The scene was so powerful that it captured the attention of the audience, and they were impressed by the way Otto played the role.

The success of "The Temple of Truth" was due to the talent of Harry Otto. He was a man of great talent, and he was able to create a character that was so powerful that it captured the attention of the audience. He was a man of determination, and he was always true to his beliefs. He was a man of courage, and he was always willing to take risks. The success of "The Temple of Truth" was due to the talent of Harry Otto, and it is a testament to his ability to create a character that is the perfect combination of all the great actors in the business.

LACK OF OUTSTANDING FIGURES REASON FOR COSTLY PICTURES

By LOUISELLA D. PASKINS

.today, business is dominated by the high cost of production, but the present crisis is one of supply. Although it is difficult to give a figure for the cost of making a picture, it is a fact that the cost of production has increased tremendously. This is due to the high cost of materials, labor, and equipment, as well as the high cost of living and the high cost of taxes.

A motion picture producer, who has been in the business for many years, stated that the cost of producing a feature film today is at least three times what it was ten years ago. He further stated that the cost of producing a short subject is now at least twice what it was ten years ago.

The high cost of production is not the only reason for the high cost of admission. The high cost of advertising, promotion, and distribution also contributes to the high cost of admission.

The high cost of production is due to the high cost of materials, labor, and equipment. The high cost of materials is due to the high cost of coal, oil, and gas, as well as the high cost of electricity.

The high cost of labor is due to the high cost of living, as well as the high cost of taxes. The high cost of equipment is due to the high cost of machinery, as well as the high cost of labor.

NEW PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION TO CURB ‘WILDCAT’ PROMOTERS

Thirty Independent Film Laboratories Form Organization to Combat Abuse Prevailing in This Line of Industry, but Will Not Interfere With Individual Businesses.

Thirty Independent Film Laboratories late Thursday night in the Hotel Comstock in Chicago formed a Protective Association to combat abuse prevailing in that line of industry, but the association will not interfere with individual businesses.

At a meeting of the thirty laboratories, a charter for the organization was adopted. A constitution was also adopted for the Protective Association, which will be known as the Independent Film Laboratory Protective Association. The purpose of the association is to bring about a standardization of conditions throughout the industry and to eliminate the abuses which have been prevalent in the past.

At the meeting Thursday night, the following officers were elected: President, W. R. C. H.; vice-president, A. J. B.; secretary, W. B. H.; and treasurer, W. J. B.

The association will operate on a club basis and will make no charge for membership. It will operate on a club basis and will make no charge for membership.

IN AND OUT OF FOCUS

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS

Miss FLORA LE BRETON

Flora Le Breton, who has been the subject of much interest and speculation about her life and career, has recently turned her attention to a new project. She has been seen working on a film set, and it is rumored that she is preparing for a new role. Le Breton has always been known for her talent and dedication to her craft, and her latest endeavors seem to be no exception.

The film, titled "The Unsung Film Heroes," is set to be released later this year. It is a biopic about a group of lesser-known film stars who helped shape the industry during its early years. Le Breton has been cast as the lead character, and the film is expected to be a critical and commercial success.

Le Breton has been working with some of the industry's top directors and producers, and the film is already generating a lot of buzz. Her fans are eagerly anticipating her next move, and many are speculating about what role she will take on next.

In the meantime, Le Breton continues to work on her craft, and her fans can expect to see her in a variety of roles in the coming months. She is a true talent, and her dedication to her craft is truly inspiring.

Office of Will Hays Has Heard Nothing of Plans of Producers to Eliminate Holding for Race or to Succeedive the Studio System to Moving Picture Industry

IT MAY COME LATER

JOSEPH SCHENCK, who only recently returned to the Court from a brief trip to France, where he represented the interests of the oil company in which he is an officer, is said to be planning a trip to California, where a number of the important railroad companies have their offices.

The trip is said to be made in order to see the results of the operations of the companies and to confer with the officers of the companies concerning the future of the railroad industry.

SCHENCK INTERVIEW

By LOU LUCIA O. PARSONS

HARRY SCHENCK, the president of the American Film Company, was found in his office at the Waldorf Astoria yesterday afternoon, looking very well and in good spirits.

He was asked if he had any plans for the future, and he replied that he was considering the matter seriously.

He said that he was thinking of going to Europe for a vacation, and that he was planning to visit his friends and relatives there.

He said that he was also thinking of taking a trip to the Middle East and the Far East, and that he was considering the possibility of establishing a branch of the American Film Company in those countries.

RELIGIOUS MAGAZINE GIVES BOOST TO MOTION PICTURES

By LOU Ella O. PARSONS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 24. (U. S. News).—A religious magazine, which has always been interested in the conservative reaches of the population, has now turned its attention to the motion picture industry. The magazine, which has always been a conservative voice in the nation, is now calling for a boycott of all films that it considers offensive to its readers. The move is expected to have a major impact on the industry, as many studios are dependent on the religious market for a significant portion of their revenue.

Protest Upheld at All Times. Sale Decision in Harris Cup in Supreme Court.

ASKED $300 FOR BREST BAR

A player on a golf course—let's call him John—had a bar placed in front of him. John was on the sixth hole, and the bar was placed in front of him, blocking his path. John was upset and asked the caddy to move the bar. The caddy refused, saying that it was part of the course. John left the course in a huff.

The Supreme Court upheld the decision of the rules committee, saying that the bar was part of the course and that John was expected to play around it.

BOY is in the midst of another of his adventures, a circumstance which is so important in the manner of a number of film personalities that it is almost as much a part of the story as the pictures themselves. "Blue Boy" is the name of the little fellow and his photographic adventures are being printed in the pages of "Blue Boy's Weekly." The editor of this publication is "Blue Boy," and he is the most popular film personality in the world. His stories are told in a manner that is both interesting and instructive, and they are written by "Blue Boy" himself.

The adventures of "Blue Boy" are of a very different type from those of the average film personality. They are not the result of a careful planning or the result of the efforts of others, but rather they are the result of the spontaneous and natural actions of the little fellow. The stories are told in a manner that is both interesting and instructive, and they are written by "Blue Boy" himself.

FILMS TRADE DEVELOPMENT AID, SAYS PRINCE OF WALES

By LOUella O. PARsons.

THE Prince of Wales on Thursday, September 1st, said that the British Film Industry was in need of an immediate boost to help it recover from the effects of the current economic situation. He called for financial aid to be provided to the film industry, which he described as "a pillar of the nation's economy".

In his speech, the Prince emphasized the importance of the film industry to the country's cultural life and its contribution to the nation's export earnings.

The Prince of Wales was speaking at a meeting of the British Film Institute, the body responsible for promoting the industry. He urged the government to take action to support the industry, which he believed was crucial to the country's future.

The Prince also called for the establishment of a Film Council, consisting of representatives from the film industry, government, and other interested parties, to discuss and implement strategies for the development and growth of the film industry.

"We must ensure that the film industry is given the support it needs to thrive," the Prince said. "It is a vital part of our cultural heritage and an important source of employment and income for many people."

DECRES LONG TERM CONTRACT

 niece other than Mary Tribolet has come up with the statement that long-term contracts for professional persons, and that for a service artist A few weeks ago on this subject. It seems to me that the long term contract is not a good thing. I have seen many examples of long-term contracts in the film industry and they have been disastrous. It has been my experience that it is better to have a contract that lasts for a year or two and then allow the person to go on to other projects. This way, they can explore different opportunities and not be locked into one project for a long time.

RITSENFIELD PROPOSES COLOR SCHEME TO PREPARE AUDIENCE

The art of creating a color scheme that is visually appealing and also helps to prepare the audience for what is to come is an important aspect of filmmaking. Robert Ritsenfeld, a leading color consultant, has proposed a new scheme that he believes will enhance the audience's experience. According to Ritsenfeld, the traditional color scheme of black and white is outdated and no longer effective in capturing the attention of modern audiences.

RITSENFIELD PROPOSES COLOR SCHEME TO PREPARE AUDIENCE

According to Ritsenfeld, the new scheme involves using colors that are more vibrant and eye-catching. He suggests using shades of blue, green, and orange to create a sense of excitement and anticipation. Ritsenfeld believes that these colors will help to set the tone for the film and create a mood that will engage the audience from the start.

RITSENFIELD PROPOSES COLOR SCHEME TO PREPARE AUDIENCE

Ritsenfeld also recommends using a color palette that is consistent throughout the film. This will help to create a cohesive look that will make the audience feel more comfortable and less distracted. Additionally, Ritsenfeld suggests using colors that are not too saturated,以免 they become overpowering and take away from the story.

RITSENFIELD PROPOSES COLOR SCHEME TO PREPARE AUDIENCE

In conclusion, Ritsenfeld believes that the new color scheme he proposes will help to create a more engaging and enjoyable viewing experience for audiences. He encourages filmmakers to consider using this scheme in their upcoming projects and see how it affects their audience's reactions.
